THE FAMILY OF DONALD ROSS

Thomas Ross and Catherine McLeod

of Kincardine, Ross shire, Scotland

In Kincardine in 1828, the year we believe Donald Ross to have been born, according to his death certificate, three Ross children named Donald were born. We can only go on probability in trying to determine which is our Donald. The Scots have a traditional 'naming pattern', as did the Irish. The first son was named for his father's father, the first daughter for the mother's mother, and so on, zig zagging down. Look at the children of Donald and Johanna. The first child, a girl, Christina, named for Johanna's mother, Christian, followed by Catherine, named for Catherine McLeod, Donald's mother. The first and only boy, Thomas, for Donald's father, the fourth girl Johanna, for Johanna herself, and the fifth child, Alexandrina, presumably named for Johanna's father Alexander, in case no more boys arrived. You will see the name Alexander carrying down the family in later generations. I think it is reasonable to assume that of the three pairs of available Ross parents in Kincardine in 1828, this pair fits pretty well.

Children of Thomas and Catherine:

1. Bassiel, b. 29.9.1821

2. Ann, b. 12.2.1826

3. Donald, b. 14.7.1828, came to Australia in 1854, with his wife, Johanna Urquhart Sutherland.

4. Mary, b. 9.1.1831

5. John, b. 18.8.1833

6. Margaret, b. 13.12.1835

7. William, b. 3.11.1839

8. Catharine, b. 18.6.1842

(this information from the International Genealogical Index)

From the Parish records of 1841 we find the family of Thomas Ross, aged 45, farmer, living at Crockner, Longland, parish of Kincardine, with his wife Catharine, 40, Bassy, 19, Alexander (IGI has Ann, these things happen), Donald, 12, Mary, 10, John, 7, Margaret, 5, and William, 1. Good enough, I would say.

KINCARDINE

In 1846 the Parish of Kincardine held 2000 inhabitants.

The church was built in 1799, and seated 650.

In the graveyard are many ROSSES.

The word KNOCK means 'hill' - presumably Arthur's Hill.

Knockarthur is an outlying settlement of the Parish of Rogart, which at one time numbered 1500 inhabitants.

In Johanna's time,
the principal language
spoken was the Gaelic, though by 1846 it was giving way to English.

ROGART

We believe that this is the church where Johanna Sutherland would have been Christened.

It was built in 1777, with a manse nearby.

GOLSPIE

In 1846 there were 491 people in the village of Golspie.

The church was built in 1738, and enlarged in 1751. It seated 565 people.

Golspie is the seat of the Dukes of Sutherland, Dunrobin Castle is about a mile from the church, right at the sea shore.
